

Vienna University of Technology
Department of Spatial Planning
Regional Science
raum srf

Open Participatory Design and Digital Tools for Inclusive & Resilient Development

Online Workshop

15th June 2020

Via Online Digital Platform

As part of the:

16th Biennial Participatory Design Conference (PDC)

Deadline for expressions of interest: 25th May 2020

The Centre for Urban and Regional Studies from the Vienna University of Technology (TU Wien, Austria), together with the Faculty of Architecture and Design from the Universidad de Los Andes (Bogota, Colombia), are pleased to invite you to participate in the digital workshop: Open Participatory Design and Digital Tools for Inclusive & Resilient Development.

The workshop will take place via an Online digital platform on the 15th June, 2020, as part of the 16th Biennial Participatory Design Conference (PDC).

This digital workshop explores how open participatory design processes and digital tools can be effectively used for making local and urban development more inclusive and resilient.

Furthermore, the workshop is serving as a multidisciplinary platform to conceptualise a book with about 12 scientific contributions in, e.g. TU Wien Academic Press.

For more information on the workshop, the call and the organizers, please visit:

https://www.srf.tuwien.ac.at/lehre/participatory_design_conference_2020/

